Nolym - Anywhere Right Now

The world of live streaming is constantly evolving, and the demand for high-quality, interactive mobile streaming experiences is at an all-time high. In this Litepaper, we will take a closer look at the most important and groundbreaking live streaming mobile application about to hit the market. With features that are unmatched in the industry, Nolym is poised to revolutionize the way we consume and engage with live streaming content.

What is the mission of Nolym?

Our mission is to provide a platform for real-time connection and engagement through groundbreaking live streaming tech, empowering users to share their unique perspectives and experiences with the world. We strive to foster a diverse and inclusive community where individuals can connect, learn, and grow together.

What problem does Nolym solve?

Ever wonder what the Empire State Building looks like right now? (Me too) Or, what is happening right now at the Washington Monument? The Bellagio in Las Vegas? Le Chateaubriand in Paris?

Before Nolym, you were limited by entering location keywords on a streaming app and got stuck viewing whatever the person live was broadcasting. More often than not, you're not seeing the exact location you're interested in. Even more frustrating, you're entirely dependent on the whims of the streamer. Not anymore!! Nolym changes everything!

With Nolym, you can see in real-time any location in the world that you choose and establish a direct connection, one on one with the Lensman that's streaming just for you!

What makes Nolym unique?

In today's rapidly shifting mobile app environment, it's a challenge to encounter an app that genuinely breaks the mold. Enter Nolym: the groundbreaking live streaming powerhouse, boasting features and capabilities that set a new standard for innovation in the digital realm. What truly sets Nolym apart from the competition is its Locations On-Demand (LOD) live streaming features.

How does Locations On Demand work?

With just a few taps, users can request a Live View at a specific location, set the price they'll pay, add some details, select the duration of the live stream and send the job. Within seconds multiple Nolym users near the requested location are pinged with a job alert. Once the job is accepted by a Nolym user or "Lensman" they have a short period of time to get on location and go live directly to you! This revolutionizes the speed at which we connect and share information happening in real time.

But that's not all, Nolym has taken it a step further by allowing a Viewer to provide details of what they want to see on the Live View, plus communicate directly to the Lensman on scene. The video is saved in the Nolym app and can be downloaded to the mobile device that requested the job. All job requests are private between the Lensman and the Viewer. After the Live View is downloaded the Viewer has the option to upload the video to their profile if they choose to do so, or keep it private. After all, they paid for it.

What are the benefits of becoming an Early Adopter?

Those that download Nolym in the first ten (10) months are rewarded with a C Rating and higher profits per job than standard users. They also have the ability to transfer their account in the Up For Grabs Marketplace. C1-C5 Rated users can set their own prices on the Marketplace when listing their C Rated account “Up For Grabs” .

What is the Classification Protocol? Classification Protocol (C1-C5 Rating)

What makes a C1-C5 Rating valuable?

Account Transfers- Early adopters receive a classification rating and retain more profit per job as a Lensman. (See Diagram pg.5) A C1-C5 Rating also appears on the user's profile. This will be important later on as the "Transfer Account" feature is introduced after 18 months. Even if a user never goes live as a Lensman, they retain the ability to transfer their account rating to another user for a profit. Account Transfers are only available to those that are C Rated. After 18 months from the deployment of Nolym, a C Rated user may offer up for "Account Transfer" their C1-C5 Rating. The C1-C5 user sets a price of their own for the Account Transfer and submits it to the "Up For Grabs" Marketplace where other users can shop around and acquire the C Rating of the Assignor if a deal is made. After the transfer, more profit is generated on future jobs as a Lensman or by transferring the account rating to another user at a later date. Once a C Rated user transfers their account they become a standard user and must search the Marketplace if they ever want to acquire a better rate. A transaction on the Marketplace is called a "Popcornslide".

Example: A C1 sets the price for their account transfer at $2,000. A standard user or any other C2-C5 Rated user seeking more profit per job can accept the account transfer for the price set by the Assignor. Once the parties complete the transaction and payment is received, the Assignor moves out of the C Rated category to the default rating (highest fee rate) essentially becoming a standard user. The other user acquires the C1 Rating with a lower fee rate retaining more profit per job. The new C Rated user now has the ability to transfer the account at a later time for an additional profit by listing it on the Up For Grabs Marketplace.

If any C2-C5 rated account acquires a better classification rating via the Up For Grabs Marketplace, their original C Rating is deleted from the system entirely.

Is there a limit to the supply of C Rated Accounts?

There is no set number of C Rated Accounts.

Will C Rated Accounts appreciate in value?

There is no way to definitively determine the future outcome. However, it's likely as C Rated accounts start to get transferred by users after 18 months. Why? The amount of C2-C5 Rated accounts will lessen in supply as new and current users acquire better C Ratings. This could potentially drive up the market cost/value of the C Rated accounts in the "Up For Grabs" Marketplace as prices are always set by the users.
